

Interview Thank You Note (Mention Next Interview)

Hi _____

I wanted to quickly write and thank you for your time and introduction to {COMPANY NAME} . In an underlying sense, I got the takeaway that the the people at {COMPANY NAME} have a real bias for action and even though it's not always easy, have a sincere desire to win.

While you never can be 100%, based upon your strategic objectives, I think that I would prove to be not only an asset from a return on investment standpoint, but also add to the culture and optimism around the office.

I am hoping that there is enough agreement on your end regarding my potential to move the process forward. Prior to that, if you have any questions for me, please do not hesitate to call or write. I am more than happy to help answer them.

Otherwise, thank you again and look forward to the prospect of continuing the process.
